IEB UGC BREAKAWAY SESSION

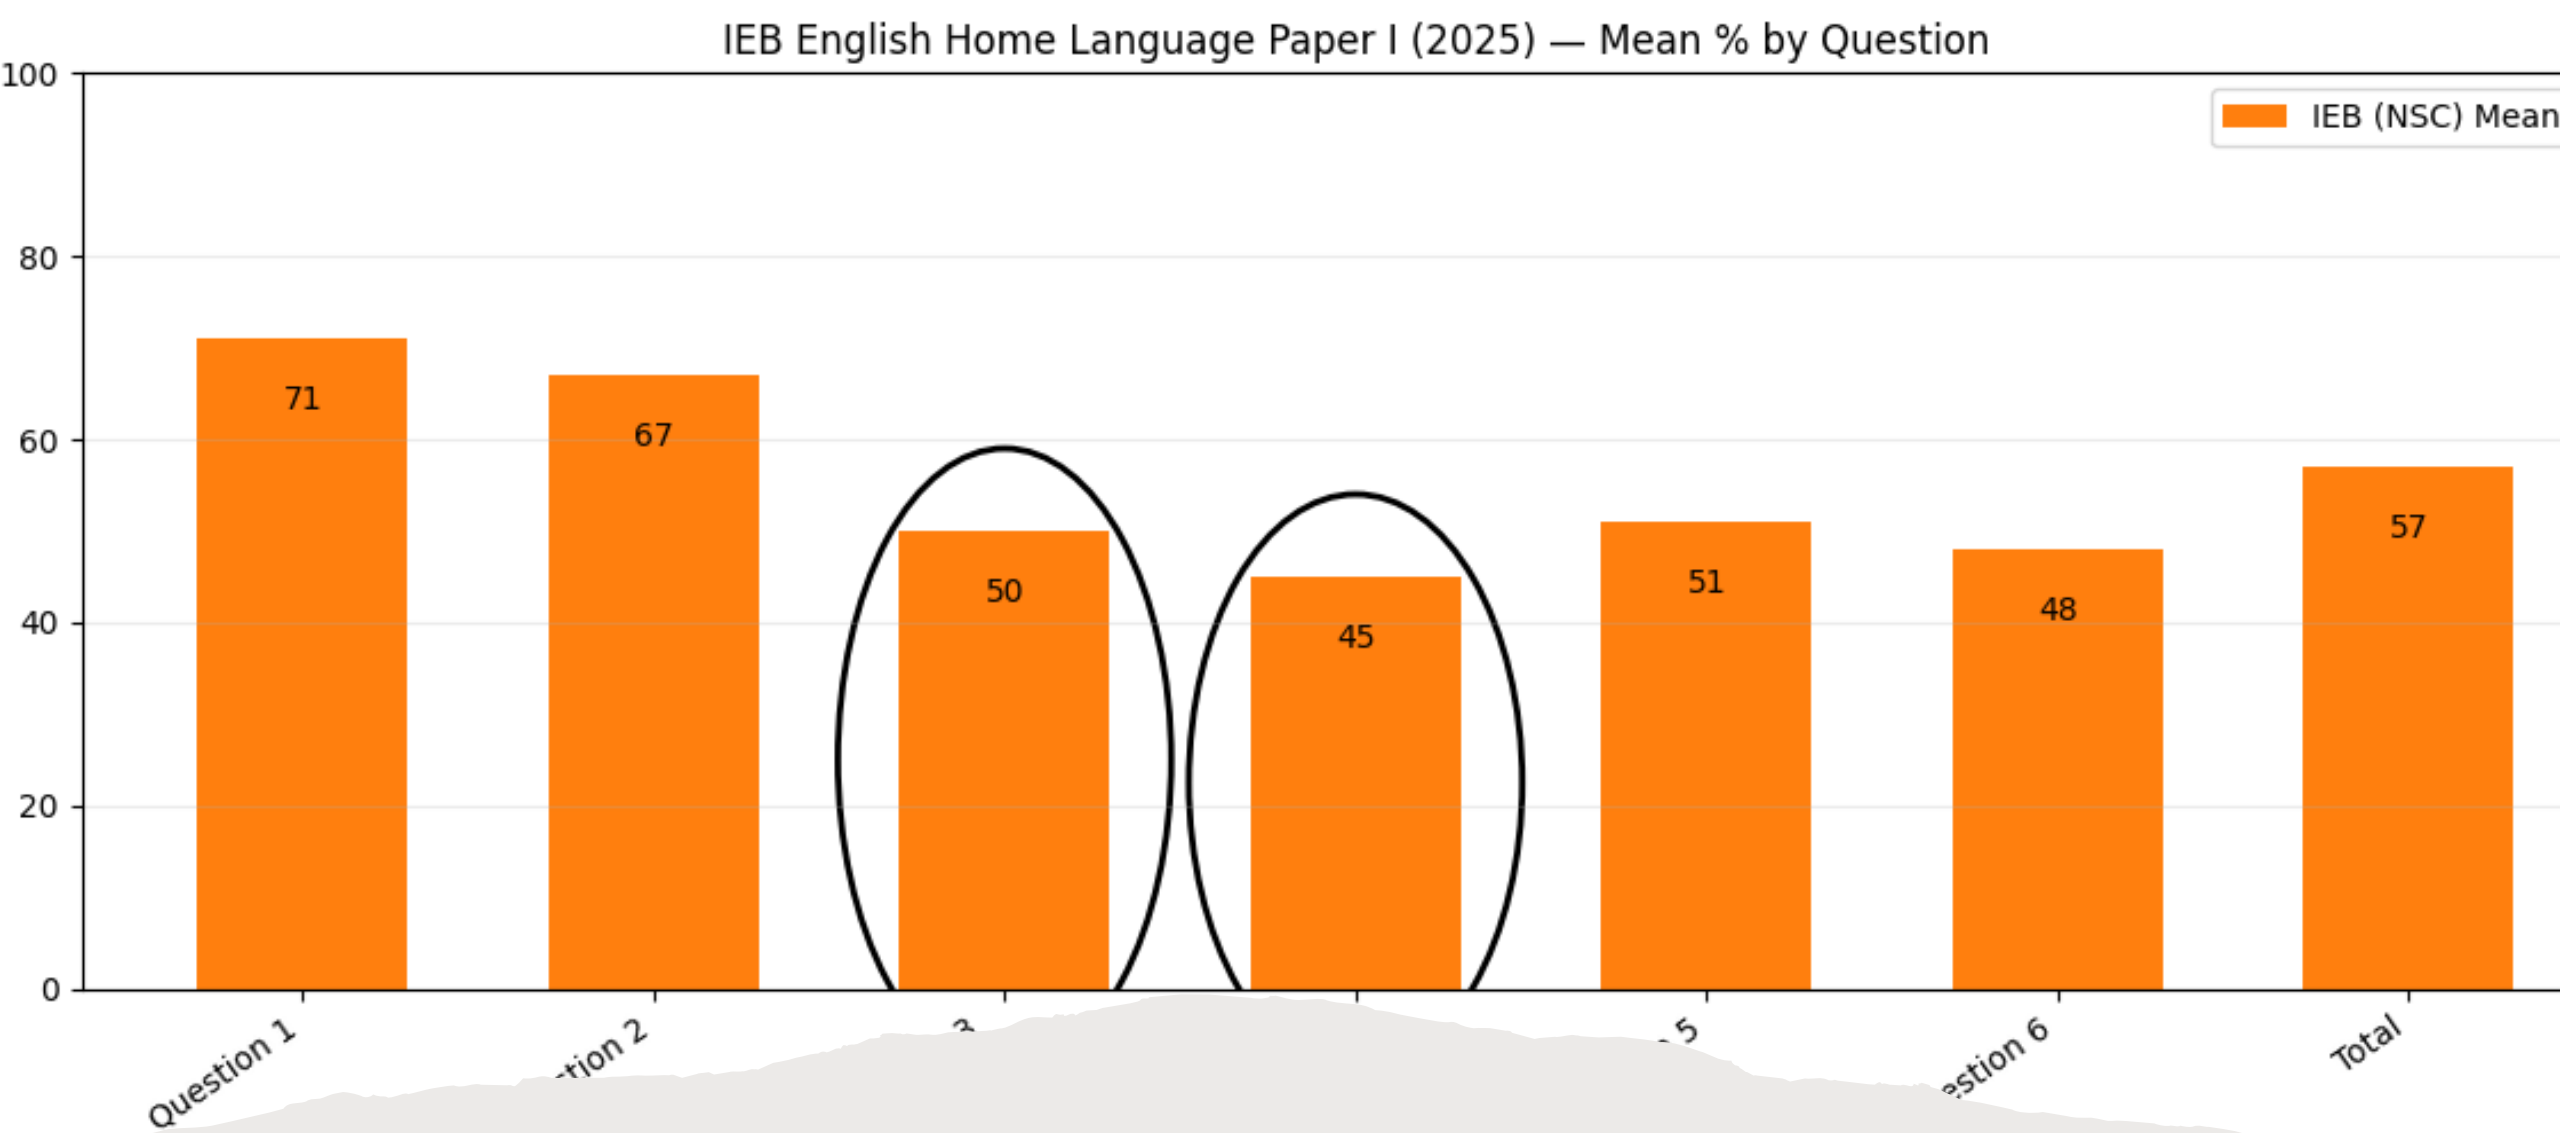

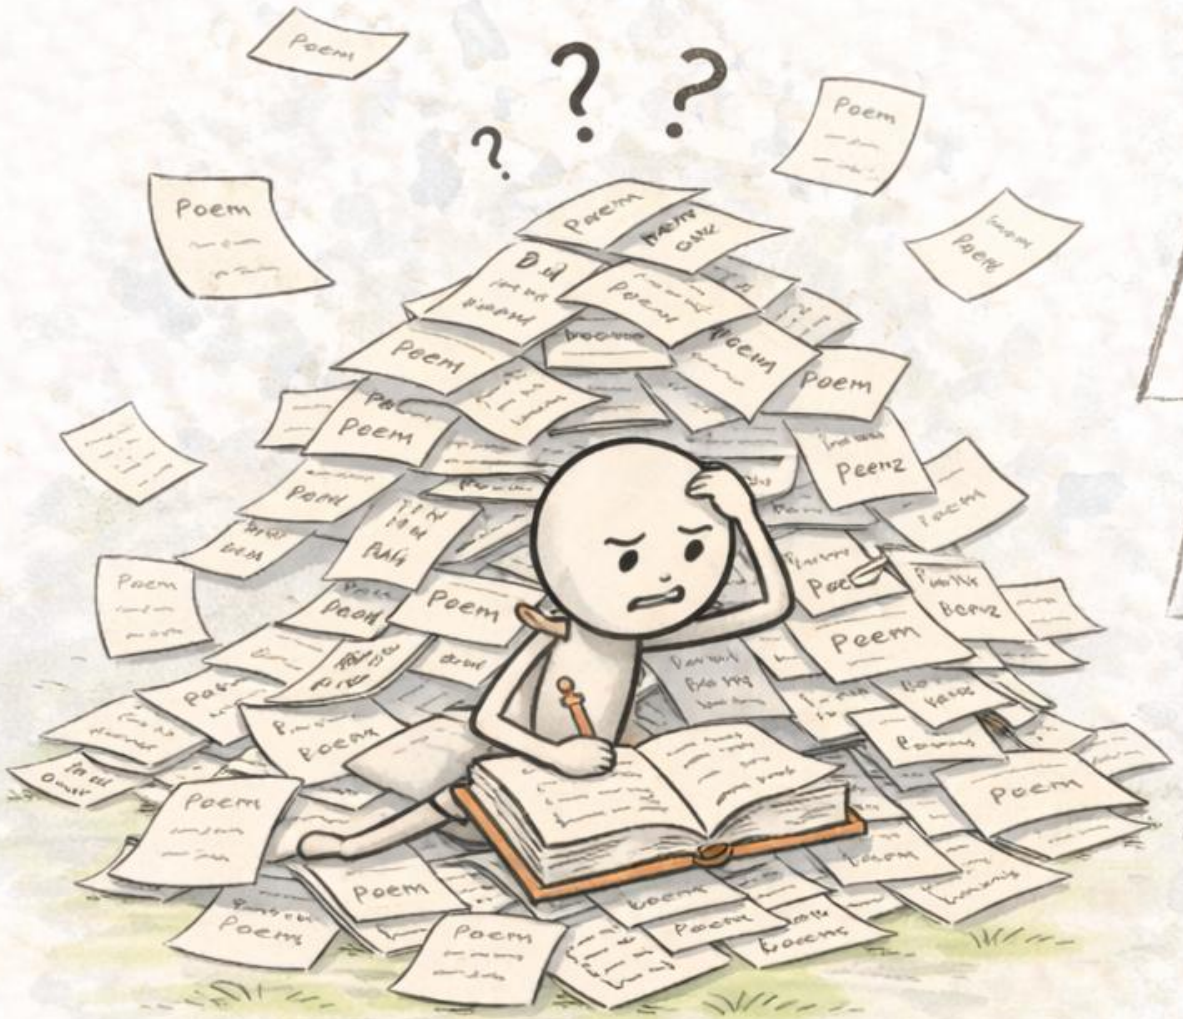

Reframing the problem

Why unseen poetry analysis feels so difficult

Unseen Poetry: Where Confidence Goes to Die

We Don't Teach Poems; We Teach Poetry

Analysis is not anathema to art

The poet's eye, in a fine frenzy rolling,

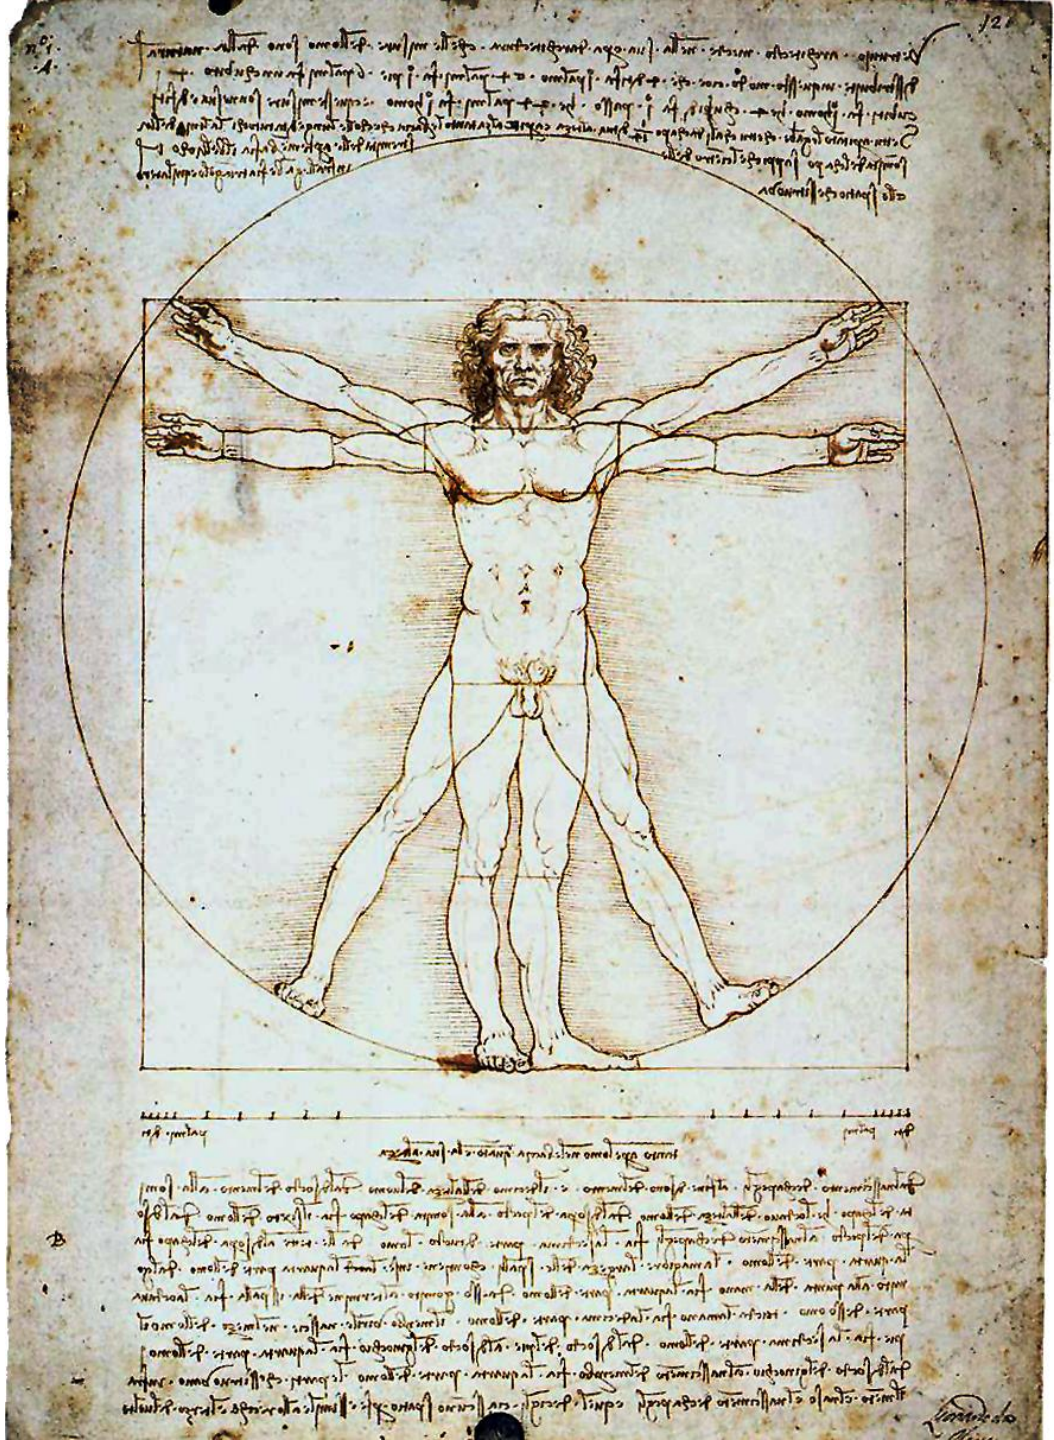

Doth glance from heaven to earth, from earth to heaven;

And, as imagination bodies forth

The forms of things unknown, the poet's pen

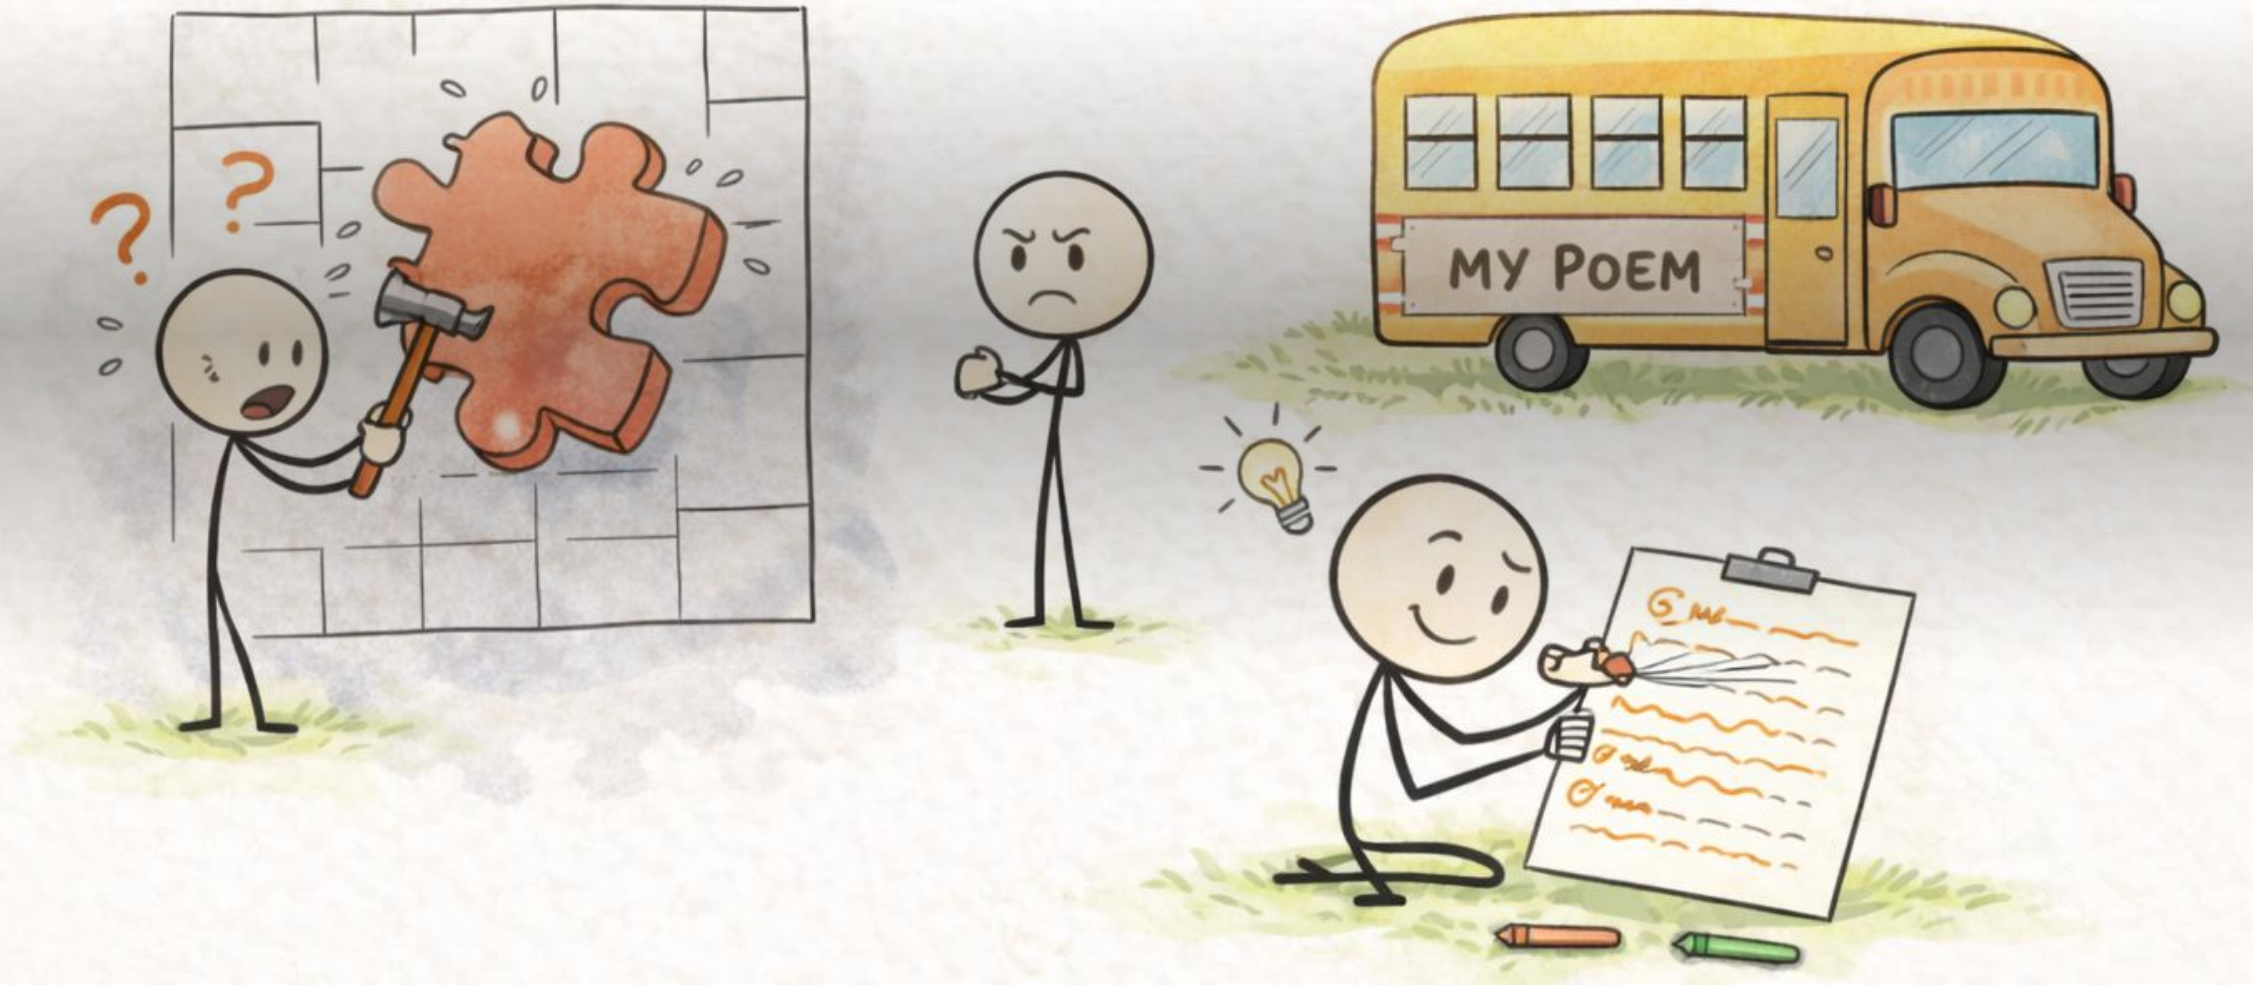

Turns them to shapes, and gives to airy nothing

A local habitation and a name.

A toolkit model

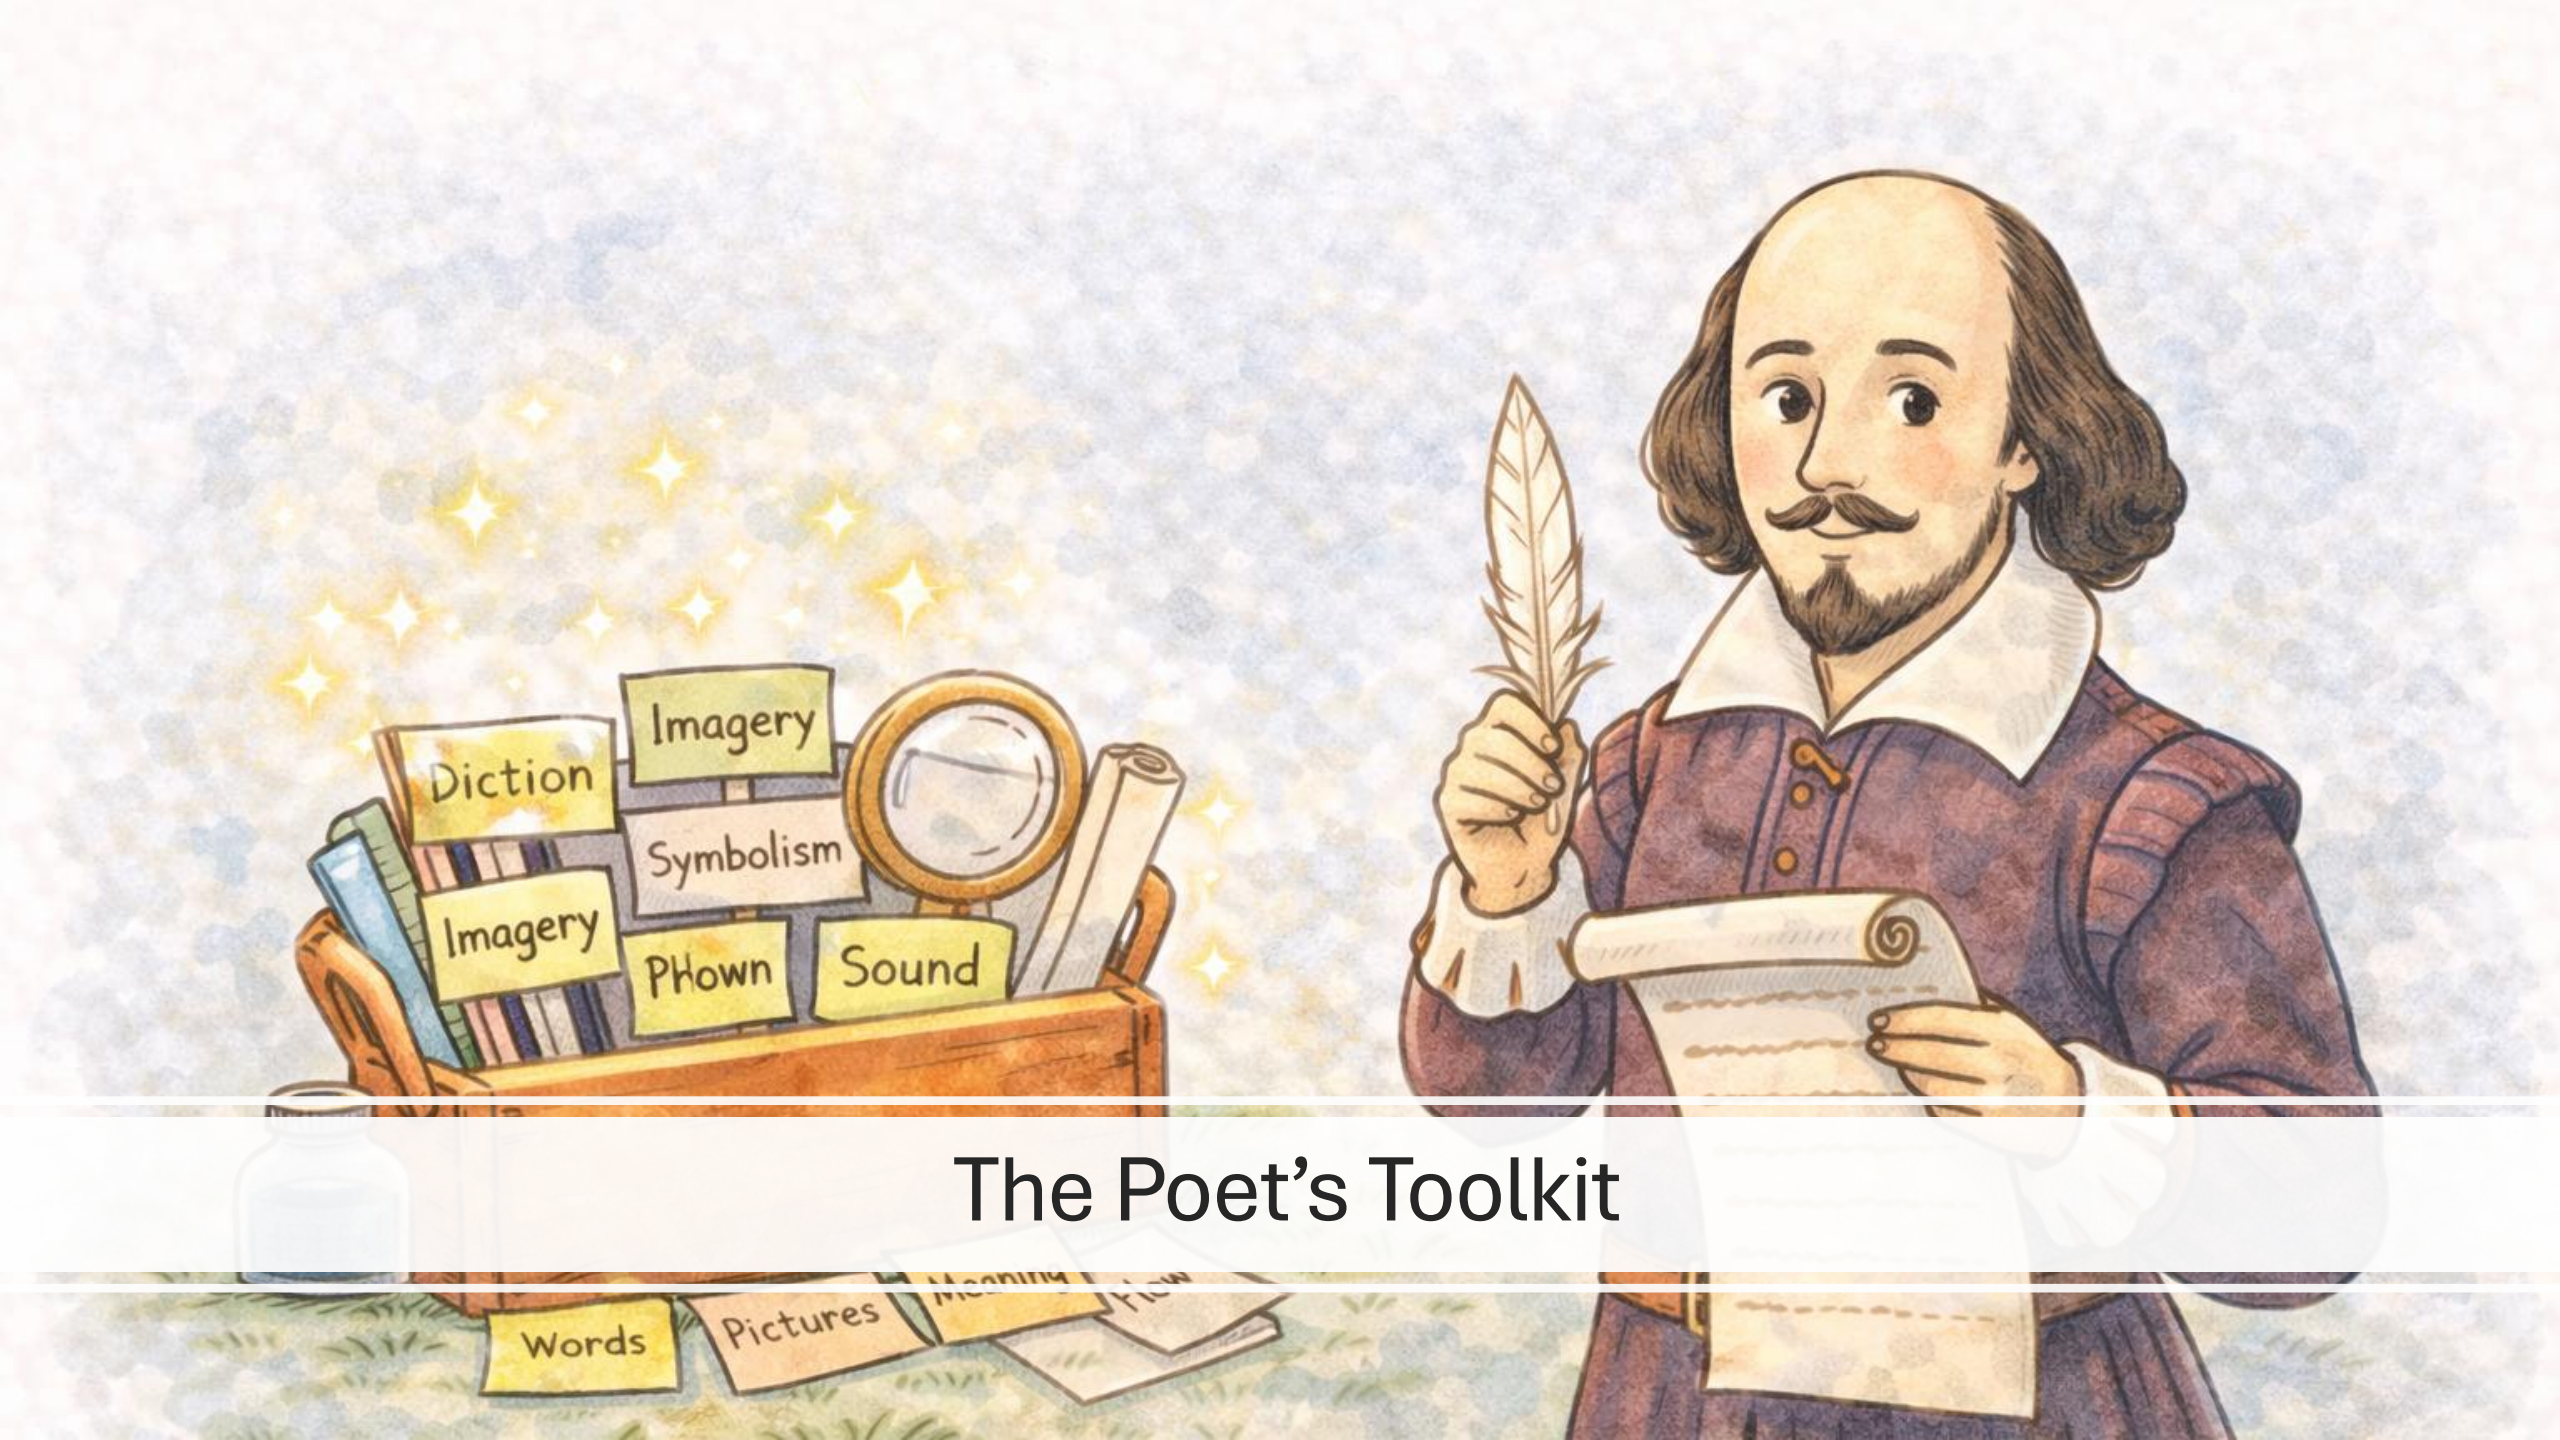

Shakespeare's 'The Poet'

Philosophy & Movement

Context: the poem is the thing

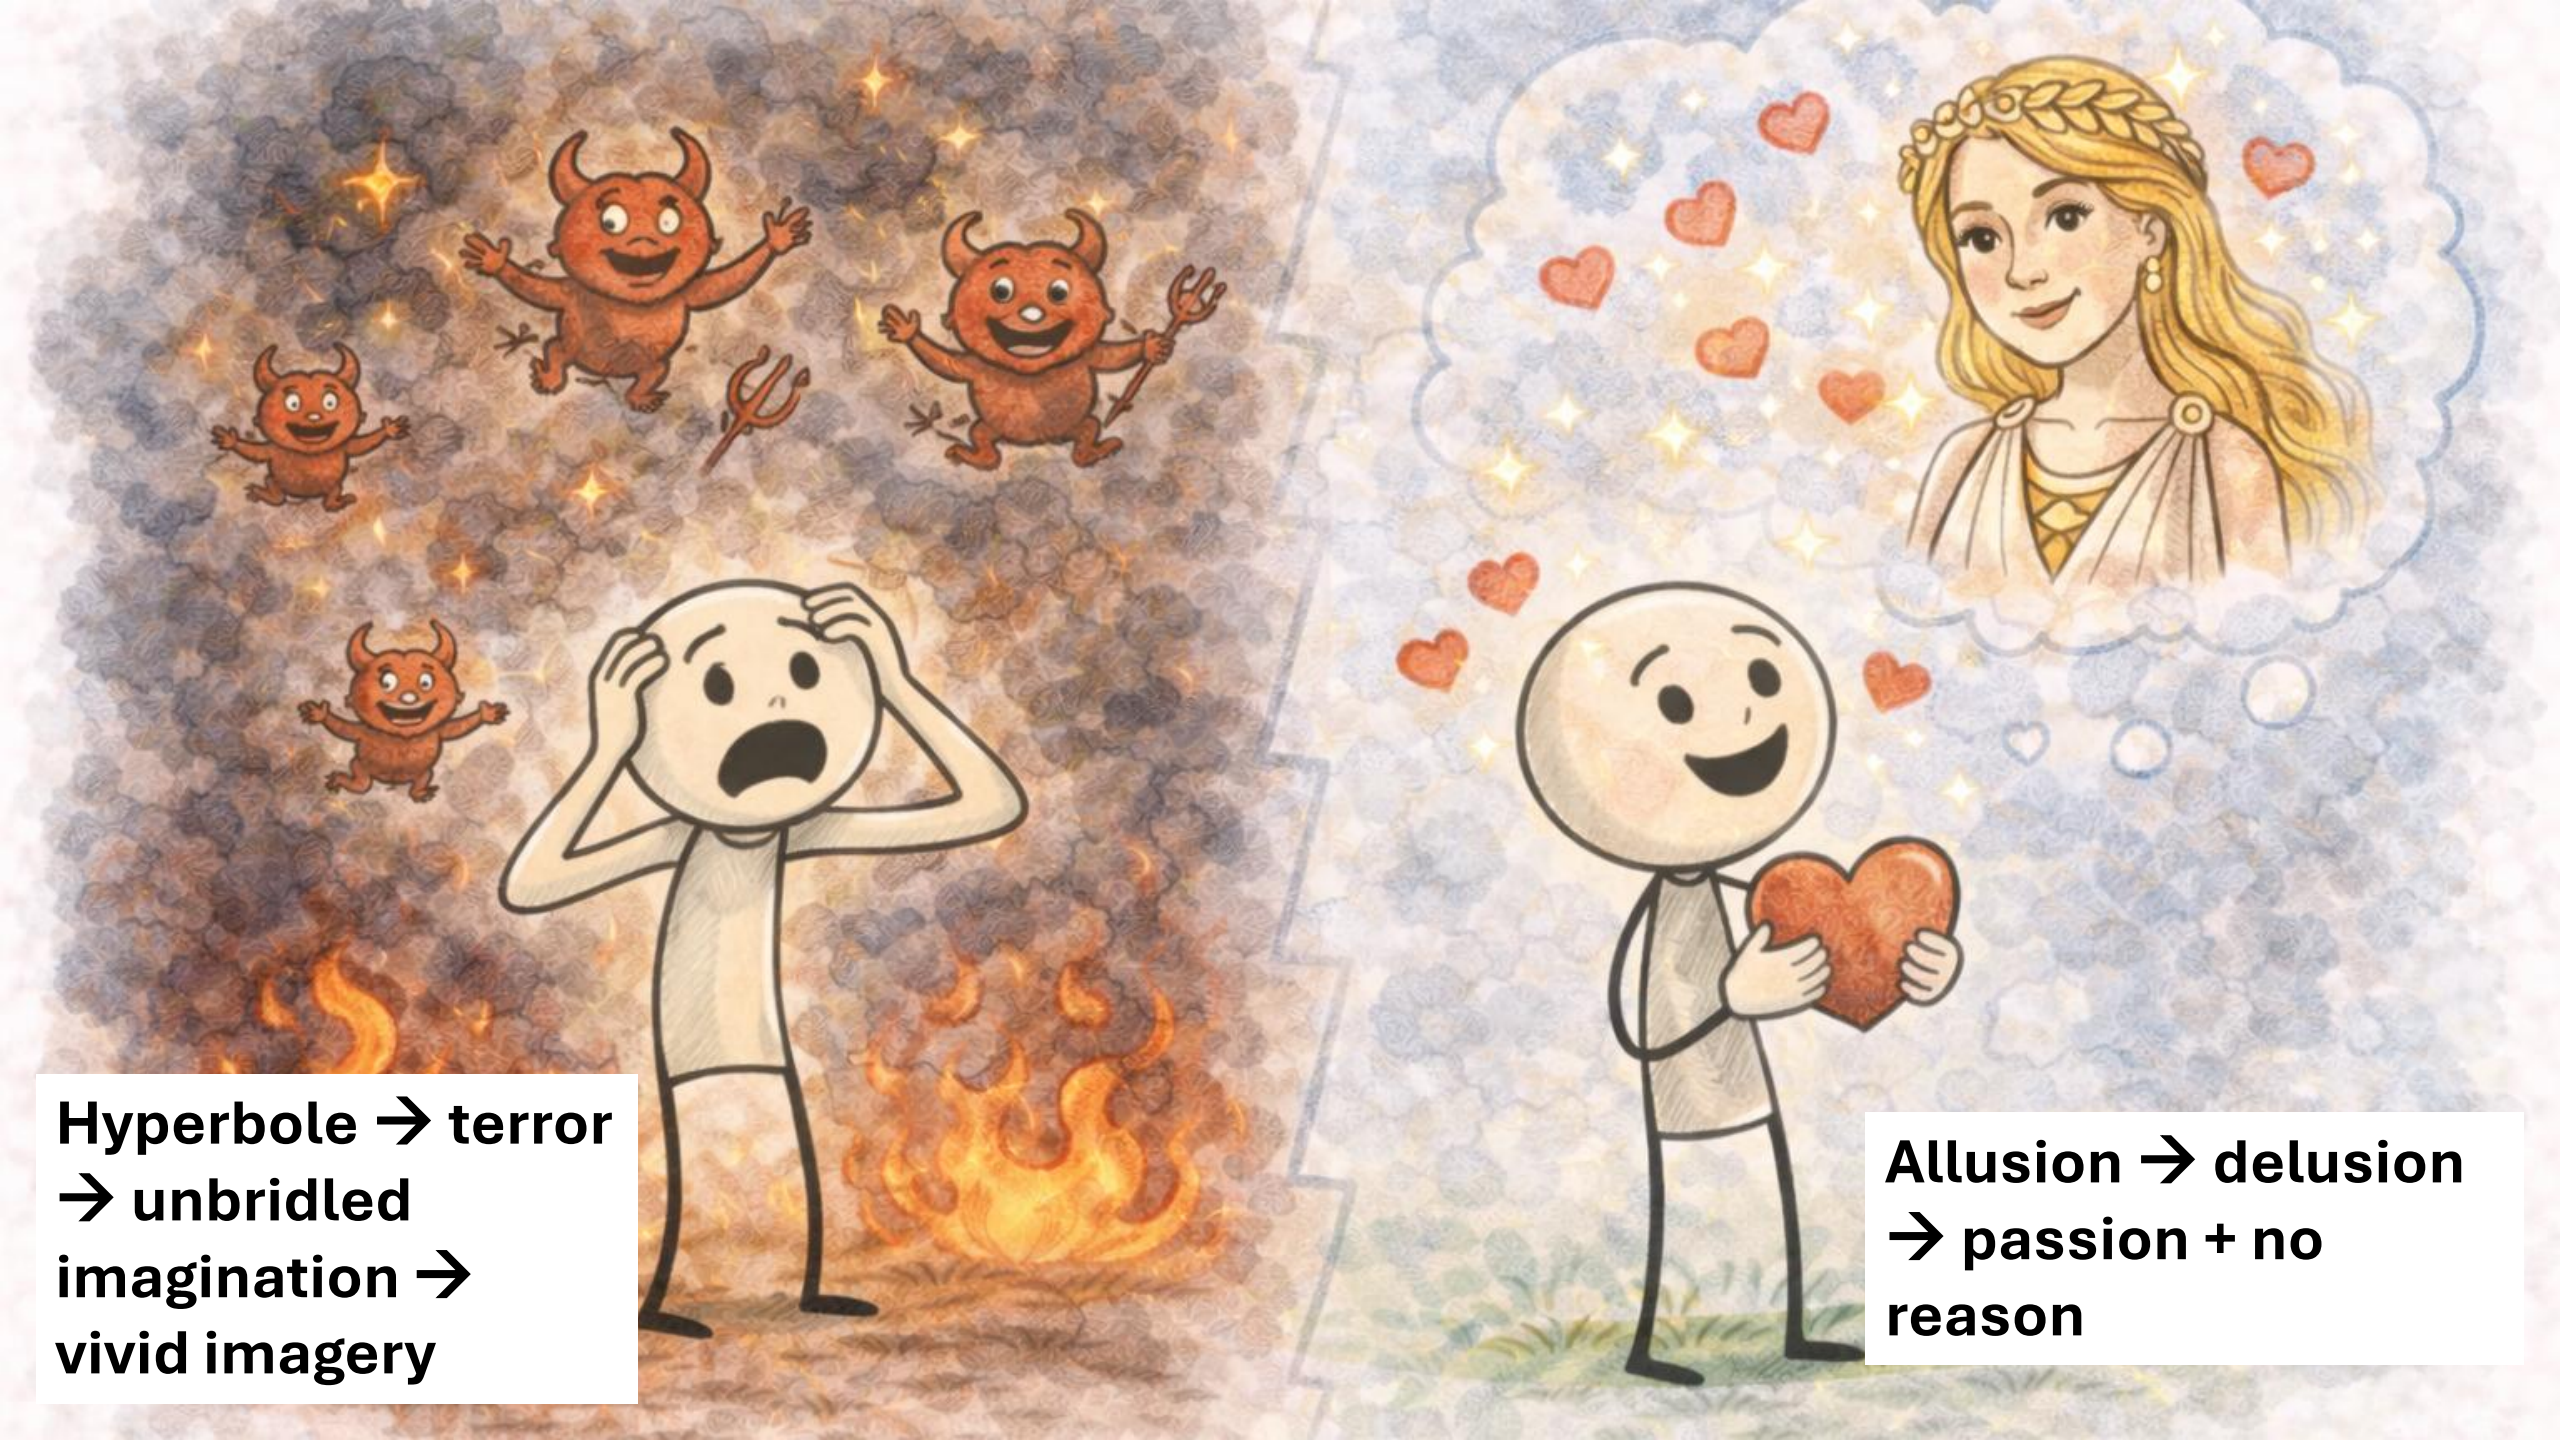

The Poet’s Toolkit

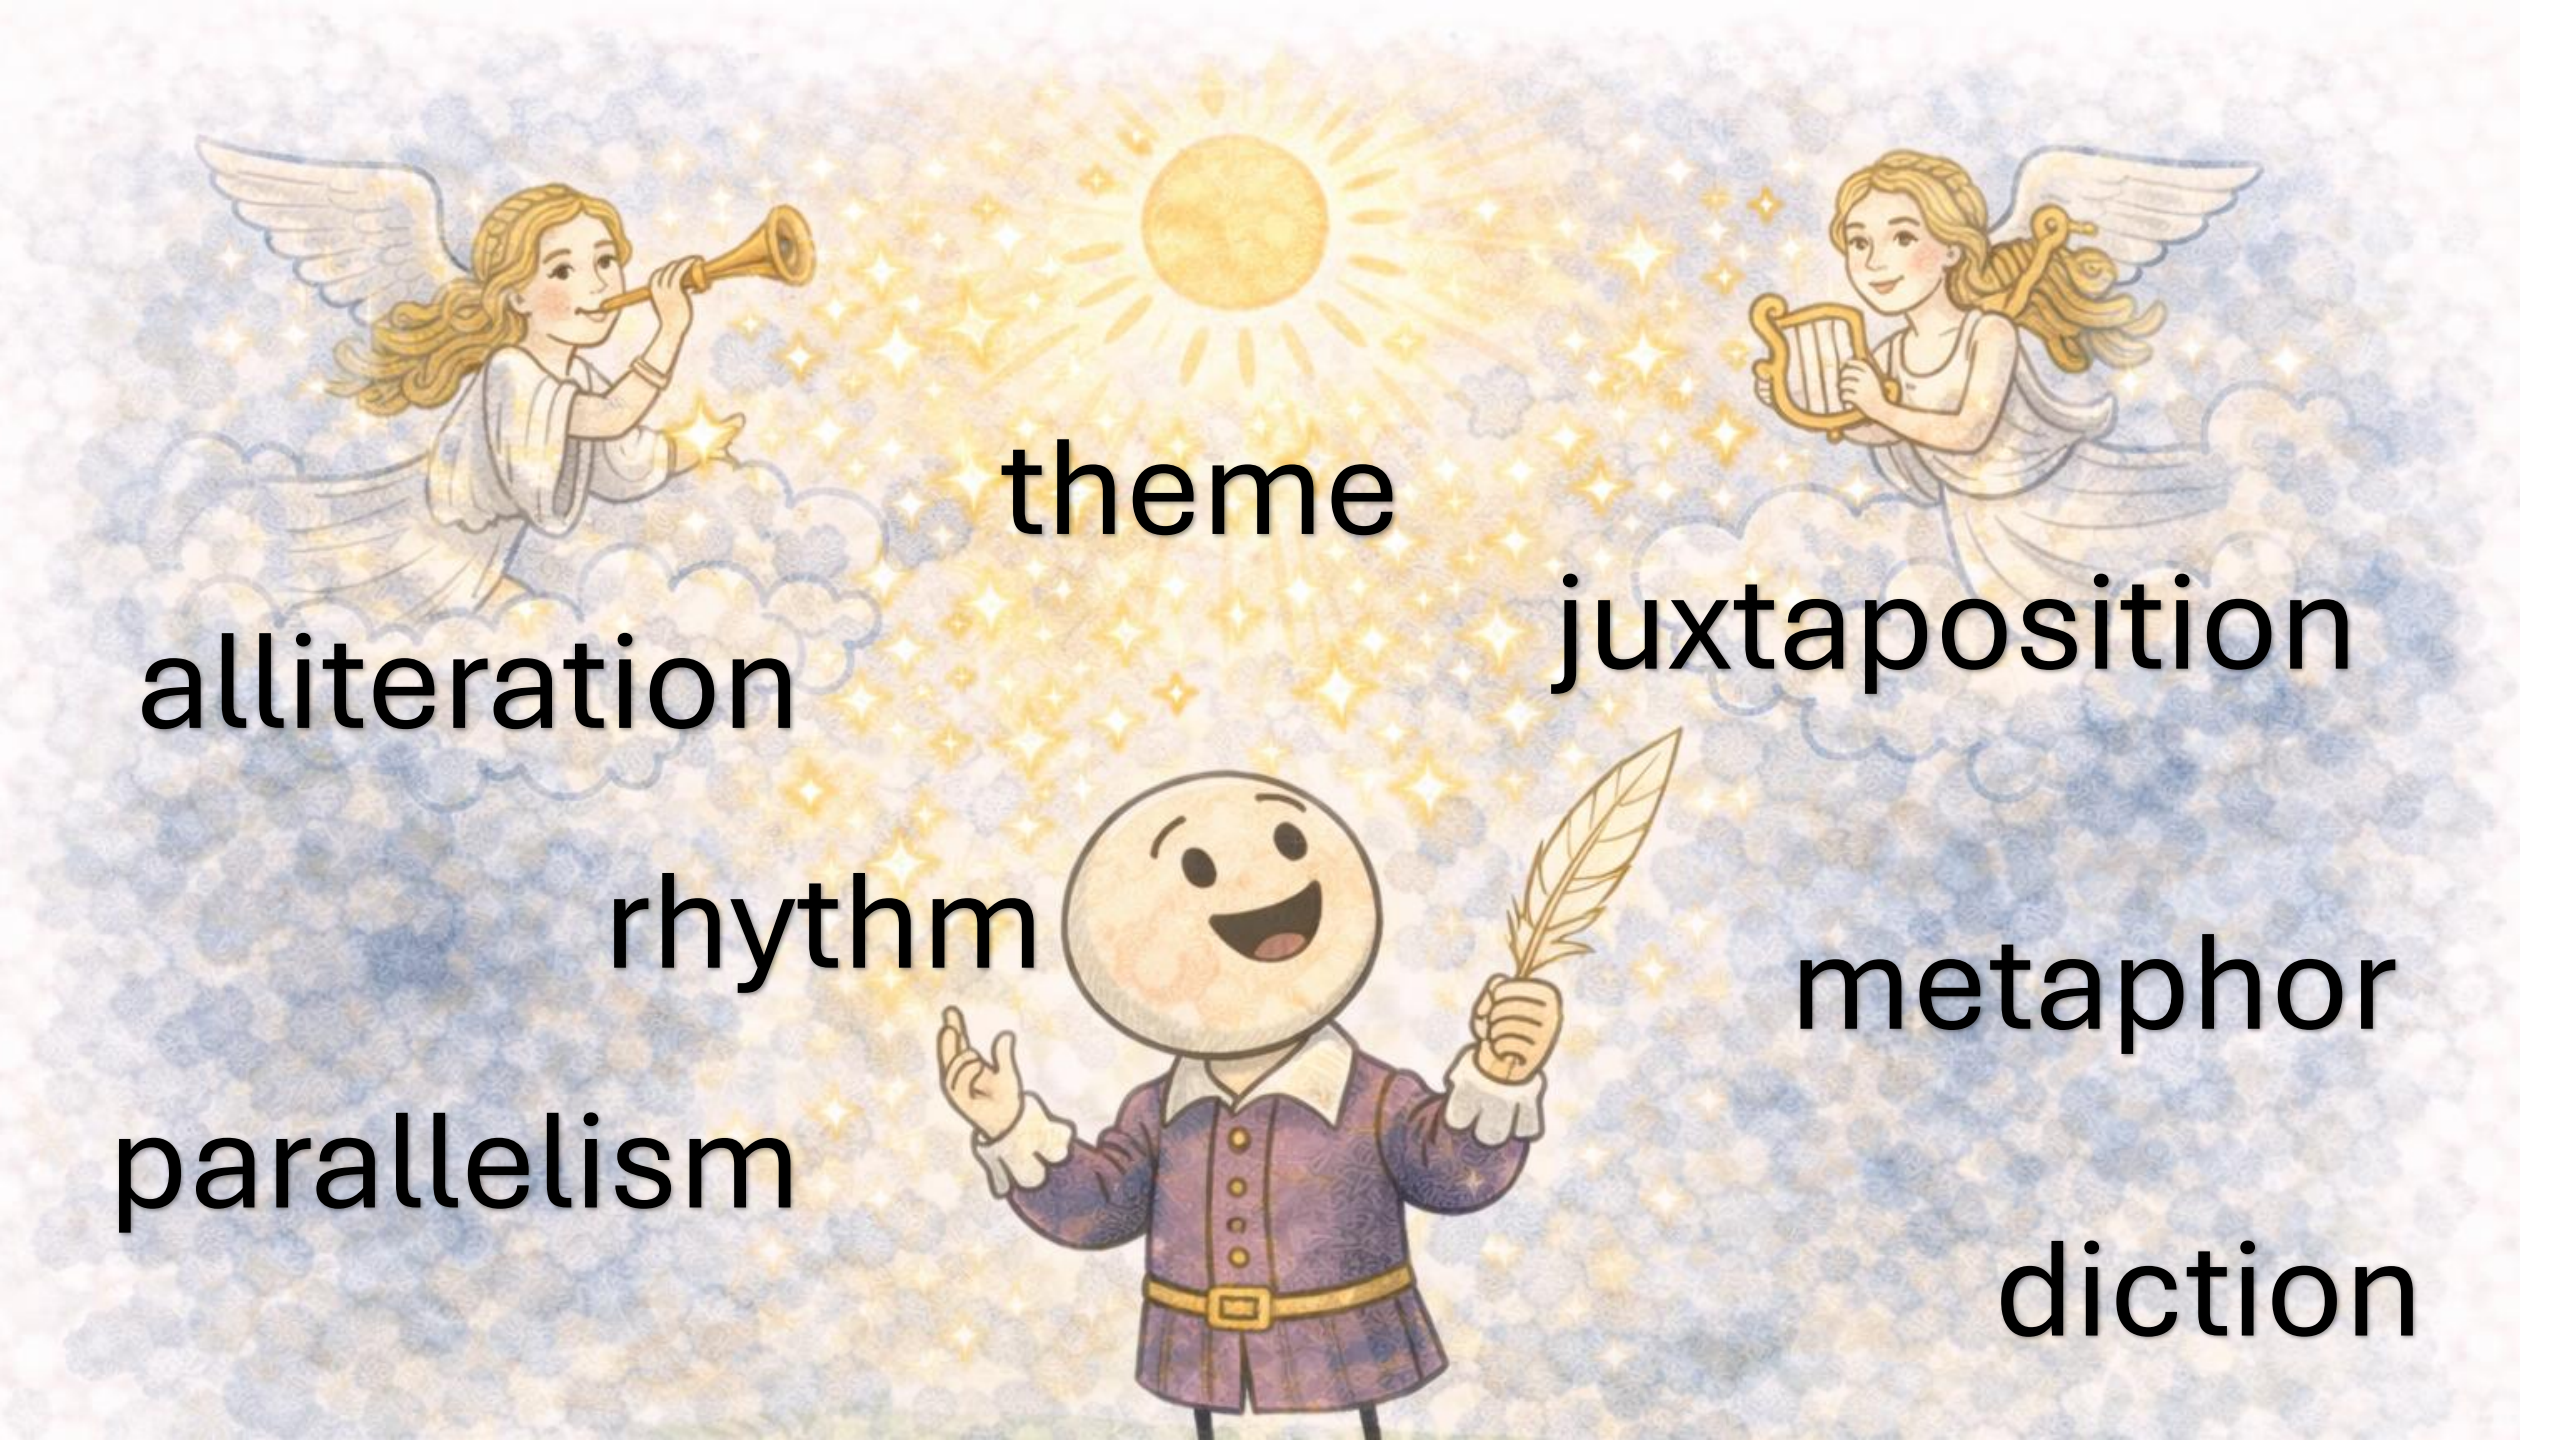

Triadic structure → imagination

The lunatic, the lover and the poet

Alliteration – 'l' → lyrical & lilting

Hyperbole → terror → unbridled imagination → vivid imagery
Allusion → delusion → passion + no reason

Putting it into practice

triadic structure

Three Ways of Seeing vivid imagery

The child believes the moon is made of milk,
The lover swears it burns for him alone,
The poet names it stone and still makes light.

hyperbole

It floods the fields with oceans made of silver,
Calls wolves to choir, pulls tides like trembling strings,
And teaches night to speak in borrowed fire.

allusion

Movement: innocence → obsession → artistry
